

DOGSAOGO

Hi there. We hope you've had a good few weeks since our last newsletter.

Well the weather hasn't been that kind to us recently and we've had some very wet and blustery walks. The dogs don't mind though, just the walkers! But it's all part of the job so best to just embrace that harsh weather.

Christmas is just around the corner now. Don't forget to buy a little something for your furry or feathery friend. But remember, NO CHOCOLATE!!! Chocolate is extremely harmful to your pets. It can kill dogs, not necessarily immediately, but over time, so just don't do it! Why not get a natural chew for your dog and a new squeaky toy and maybe a tin of tuna and a catnip toy for your pussy cat.

Christmas is a time for celebration, but please remember to keep an eye on your pets. Don't overfeed them. Too much of anything is not good for your pets and not only will they be poorly but you will be clearing up the consequences!

We've welcomed some more new friends to DOGSAOGO. Welcome to Pi and Valentine, beautiful black kittens. They were very shy to begin with but are really coming out of their shells now and playing with their toys at every opportunity.

Our new puppy Griffin has joined the team. He's a new friend for Jack our Labrador. Griffin is a 12 week old, black and silver German Shepherd dog. He's a big ball of fluff and causing chaos, but is lots of fun. Griffin will be attending puppy classes in the very near future and has been invited to a Puppy Party run by Hawthorne Lodge which he's really looking forward to and to have the opportunity to meet puppies of his own age and to have some fun with. He's already able to go out for short walks and is loving jumping in all the muddy puddles, much to our delight!

Peta went on a Pet's 1st Aid Course at Moreton Morrell College in Warwickshire in early November, so is now able to confidently deal with emergency situations with your pets and also look after their day to day health and wellbeing. Visit the website DOGSAOGO.co.uk to see her certificate.

So a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New year to all our DOGSAOGO clients and their owners. We'll hopefully catch up with you in the New Year. Have a fun filled time with your pets.

Don't forget to tell all your friends about us and who knows, by next month's newsletter, we may have even more new friends to welcome!
